To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to offer my strong recommendation for Andrew R. Goad. I have had the pleasure of working closely with Andrew for more than five to six years as both a peer and a cross-functional partner, and over that time I have consistently relied on him as one of the most capable and trusted analytics professionals in our organization.

Andrew brings a rare combination of deep technical expertise, practical business insight, and exceptional communication skills. I regularly relied on him not only for accurate and reliable data, but for meaningful insight into what the data was actually telling us. He does not believe in cold handoffs — Andrew takes the time to explain results, highlight risks, and ensure stakeholders truly understand both the “what” and the “why.”

What sets Andrew apart from others at a similar level is his experience and intuition. He has an ability to quickly recognize when something is “off” in complex analysis and to dig in until the root cause is clearly understood. He is also highly innovative, often pushing conversations beyond “this is how it’s always been done” toward better, more efficient solutions.

One project in particular stands out. We were working on a highly complex, custom Credit Bureau Reporting effort that had never been done before. Andrew took the lead from a data perspective and managed evolving, minute-by-minute changes in custom logic while keeping stakeholders aligned and informed. Credit Bureau Reporting data is among the most complex I have encountered in my career, and Andrew handled it with a level of confidence and precision that made a difficult project feel manageable. I was genuinely relieved to have him leading the data work on that effort.

Andrew is also someone who raises his hand when there are concerns or risks — not in a disruptive way, but in a thoughtful, solution-oriented manner. He is deeply accountable, highly collaborative, and consistently focused on doing the right thing, especially in high-risk or high-visibility situations.

I would hire Andrew again without hesitation. He would be an asset in any senior analytics or data leadership role, including data extraction, complex analysis, remediation, and communicating results effectively to both technical and non-technical audiences. I am confident that he brings far more value than any single job description can capture.

Please feel free to contact me if you require any additional information. I recommend Andrew wholeheartedly and without reservation.

To Whom It May Concern,

Please accept this letter as a professional reference for Andrew Goad. I have worked closely with Andrew for over eight years on extremely complex and critical remediation projects that impacted millions of accounts. Andrew has consistently demonstrated exceptional leadership, strategic thinking, and operational excellence in his role as Senior Lead Analytics Consultant with Wells Fargo. His contributions during his employment made a significant impact on regulatory compliance, process efficiency, and team development. Andrew led multiple teams in development and implementation of remediation strategies to ensure timely and accurate assessment of customer impact. The process model to execute these strategies required a holistic understanding of the line of business products, processes and problems and required strong working partnerships with multiple teams. Andrew is always fully committed to customer excellence in his work.

Andrew has always exhibited a disciplined and proactive approach to internal and regulatory adherence. He ensures analytic efforts are tightly aligned with compliance expectations as well as enterprise standards. By embedding analytics early in the remediation lifecycle, he enabled timely execution and consistent regulatory performance across all work he was involved in.

Andrew played a key role in driving initiatives that shortened timelines and improved operational efficiency. He developed knowledge base articles and employee training to standardize practices and support continuous learning across teams. Andrew fosters an inclusive, high-performing team culture with his commitment to continuous development and open communication.

In summary, Andrew's ability to combine regulatory rigor with operational innovation makes him an invaluable asset to any organization. I confidently recommend him for roles requiring complex problem solving, strategic leadership, compliance expertise, and team development.

Please feel free to contact me at for any additional information.

Sincerely,

Jodi Patterson

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to offer my strongest recommendation for Andrew Goad, who has served as a Senior Lead Analytic Consultant and reported to me beginning February 18, 2025. He has over eight years of experience in this role. Throughout his tenure, Andrew has consistently demonstrated exceptional analytical expertise, leadership maturity, and cross-functional influence. He is not only one of the most capable remediation analytic consultants, but also truly one of the most talented analytic professionals that I have had the privilege to work with.

Andrew's performance over the past year (the time in which he reported directly to me) has been remarkable in both breadth and depth. His technical versatility and strategic thinking have positioned him as a critical contributor across numerous high-priority initiatives. Most notably, Andrew has served as the lead peer reviewer for a large, multi-phase, multi-LOB project which spanned more than a year in duration. His thoughtful engagement, rigorous quality oversight, and ability to collaboratively challenge assumptions made him an indispensable partner, frequently relied upon by project leaders and stakeholders.

In addition to his peer-review leadership, Andrew is an expert in Credit Bureau Reporting (CBR). His deep understanding of CBR processes, along with his strong relationships with partners within Credit Bureau Management, enabled him to resolve complex issues across the remediation project lifecycle—from development through audit and downstream review. Andrew played a pivotal role in a cross-LOB effort to standardize CBR update tracking, improve accuracy of reporting adjustments, and redesign supporting code infrastructure. His contributions included developing tracking mechanisms for manual and mass maintenance updates, implementing significant enhancements to a shared CBR impact analysis codebase, co-authoring requirements documents, and creating detailed job aids adopted across the team.

Andrew also assumed ownership of several other high-impact responsibilities, including leading a key quarterly process and helping to transition these processes into standard LOB operations. He has maintained multiple commonly used code bases and assisted his peers in adapting these code bases to their projects. Beyond his major initiatives, he continued to support full end-to-end remediation projects—conducting intake analysis, population identification, exclusion logic, and financial calculations—before partnering with a peer to advance the work through downstream review.

In addition to his technical and project-delivery excellence, Andrew brings exceptional professionalism, communication skills, and a calm, grounded presence to every situation. He applies outstanding analytic rigor, strong attention to detail, and enhances the quality of all work that he touches. He has been a tremendous asset not only to his peers but also to me personally, helping me understand and navigate the complexities of the Auto remediation environment. His willingness to mentor, advise, and support others reinforces his value as both a leader and a teammate.

Andrew is a high-performing, high-integrity professional who consistently operates well above expectations. His expertise, work ethic, and collaborative mindset make him an outstanding candidate for any advanced analytic, leadership, or strategic role. I endorse him without reservation and am confident he will continue to excel in any future opportunity he pursues.

Sincerely,

D. Loudoun Emswiler

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to offer my highest recommendation for Andrew Goad. I have had the privilege and pleasure of working with Andrew for the past eight years, including four years in very close partnership on a complex, highest-priority initiative that Andrew drove and led.

Throughout our work together, Andrew consistently distinguished himself through exceptional analytical ability, intellectual rigor, and professionalism — with the added bonus of being a joy to work with. He has a rare talent for quickly absorbing large volumes of complex data, identifying comparing and contrasting multiple viable solutions, and anticipating downstream impacts proactively before issues arise. His work is consistently accurate, thoughtful, and delivered with a strong sense of ownership and accountability.

Andrew is also an outstanding collaborator. He communicates clearly, asks insightful questions, and approaches challenges with a solution-oriented mindset — particularly in fast-paced or high-pressure environments. Even when requirements shifted unexpectedly or new constraints were introduced including at submission without notice, Andrew remained calm, adaptable, and focused on delivering results without compromise to quality or timeliness.

In addition to his technical strengths, Andrew brings integrity, reliability, and sound judgment to every engagement. He elevates the teams he works with and can be trusted with critical initiatives that require both precision and strategic thinking.

Even after we were no longer working closely together, Andrew was readily available for questions and guidance. I was pleased to continue leveraging his expertise as needed, both for my own work and as a trusted resource for others.

I recommend Andrew without reservation. He would be an exceptional asset to any organization fortunate enough to have him on their team. Please feel free to contact me if additional information would be helpful.

Sincerely,

Donna Osacho

Letter of Recommendation for Andrew Goad

Andrew has been an exceptional partner, consistently sharing his deep knowledge and expertise to keep multiple Remediations on track across both the Financial and Credit Bureau spaces. His strengths in developing and reviewing code, identifying risk, crafting effective solutions, and collaborating to address Credit Bureau Management and Audit inquiries have been instrumental to our progress.

Andrew stands out for his ability to optimize complex code, manage relationships across multiple levels of leadership, and provide strategic direction on large-scale initiatives. He is widely respected for his technical acumen, sound judgment, and ability to translate strategy into execution.

Beyond his technical capabilities, Andrew consistently rises to every challenge with positivity and determination. He brings multidimensional talent, fosters a high-performance environment, and embraces difficult work with enthusiasm and professionalism.

In summary, I strongly recommend Andrew for any role seeking a high impact contributor with demonstrated business and technical expertise. His partnership, leadership, and results-driven mindset make him an invaluable asset to any team.

To Whom It May Concern,

I had the pleasure to work with Andrew Goad for several years on a high profile and sensitive remediation at Wells Fargo. Having worked closely with Andrew, I have seen firsthand his exceptional ability to navigate complex data landscapes while maintaining a steadfast focus on team cohesion and actionable results.

Andrew is, above all, a solution-based problem solver. He possesses a rare talent for looking past the immediate noise of a technical challenge to identify the underlying business need. This was most notably demonstrated when he created a comprehensive process to analyze data for the remediation credit reporting. This initiative not only streamlined a previously fragmented workflow but also significantly enhanced the accuracy and reliability of our remediation standards.

Beyond his technical prowess, Andrew was a cornerstone of our team's culture. He is remarkably helpful and inclusive, consistently going out of his way to mentor junior analysts and ensure that diverse perspectives are integrated into our final solutions. His leadership style fosters an environment where everyone feels empowered to contribute, which has been instrumental in our collective success.

Andrew's blend of analytical rigor and collaborative spirit makes him an ideal candidate. I have no doubt that he will be a transformative asset to your team, and I recommend him without reservation.

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Andrew Goad. I have had the privilege of working with Andrew for six years in the Customer Excellence Data and Analytics department, and I can confidently say that he is an exceptional team member.

Throughout our time together, Andrew has consistently demonstrated analytical thinking, problem-solving, adaptability, leadership, and collaboration. He can intake and solve complex problems with exceptional accuracy. Additionally, Andrew is always willing to jump in and provide mentorship and assistance to fellow team members to ensure departmental success.

One example that highlights his capabilities is our Collateral Protection Insurance remediation project. Within this large-scale project, Andrew provided both lead development and testing support. His development of a financial computation tool was vital to our team successfully and accurately meeting project deadlines. Andrew was a key contributor to the closure and completion of this long-term project.

Beyond his professional abilities, Andrew is very dependable and approachable, making him a pleasure to work with. I am confident that he will excel in any endeavor he pursues.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or need further information.

January 5, 2026

Dear sir or madam,

I have had the privilege of working closely with Andrew Goad for the past five years on complex data analysis and remediation projects. During this time, Andrew has consistently demonstrated exceptional technical expertise, a strong work ethic, and a collaborative approach that makes him an invaluable team member.

One of Andrew's key responsibilities was managing the process for recalculating customer impact based on newly submitted documentation. This work required meticulous version control, precise tracking of inputs and code, and a deep understanding of downstream dependencies. His results served as the foundation for a series of critical activities and consistently passed multiple quality reviews. The trust placed in Andrew to lead this process for several years speaks volumes about his reliability and performance.

Andrew also served as our internal subject matter expert on consumer reporting, a component of the remediation process that underwent significant updates. Each time changes were introduced, Andrew worked closely with stakeholders to develop shared code solutions that integrated seamlessly into upstream and downstream workflows. His ability to ensure accuracy and consistency across these complex processes was instrumental to the success of our team.

As a peer, I found Andrew to be an outstanding collaborator. He provided thoughtful, constructive feedback and approached challenges with a critical eye. Whenever possible, I requested Andrew as a peer reviewer because his insights consistently improved the quality of our work.

I strongly recommend Andrew for any role requiring a skilled and dependable data analyst. His technical proficiency, attention to detail, and collaborative mindset make him an asset to any organization. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

To Whom It May Concern,

It is with great enthusiasm that I write to recommend Andrew Goad.

Andrew consistently demonstrates an exceptional level of professionalism in every interaction. He approaches both routine tasks and high-stakes projects with the same calm, steady demeanor — a rare and highly valuable trait that helps maintain team morale and focus even under pressure.

One of his standout strengths is an extraordinary attention to detail paired with thoughtful thoroughness. Whether preparing client deliverables, conducting analyses, or reviewing complex documentation, Andrew produces work of consistently outstanding quality. I have come to trust his output almost implicitly, knowing that few details will escape his careful review.

He also brings a deep level of subject matter expertise to our field. Colleagues frequently turn to him for guidance on the most challenging technical or strategic questions. What makes Andrew particularly effective is the way He shares that expertise: always generously, clearly, and genuinely supportive. His guidance empowers others, builds confidence, and fosters genuine growth across the team.

Finally, Andrew is exceptionally reliable when it comes to execution. Deliverables are completed promptly, often ahead of schedule, and with the same high standards that characterize all of his work. This combination of speed, quality, and composure makes him an invaluable team member.

I recommend Andrew without reservation and would welcome the opportunity to work with him again in the future.

Sincerely,

Roy Cross

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Andrew Goad. I have had the pleasure of working with Andrew for 8 years at Wells Fargo, where he excelled as Senior Lead Analytic Consultant. Andrew consistently demonstrated exceptional skills in SAS programming, risk assessment and critical thinking, and contributed significantly to our team. For instance, our team was involved in a regulatory project that needed Andrew to use his SAS programming skills to create a weekly dataset to ensure our success in doing what is right for our customers. Andrew also used his dedication to research data and processes and disseminating that info to the team. I am confident that Andrew will bring the same dedication and excellence to your organization.

Recommendation Letter

Date: 2/16/2026

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Andrew Goad. I have had the privilege of knowing Andrew Goad for four and a half years as an Analytics Consultant at Wells Fargo.

During this time, Andrew Goad has demonstrated exceptional qualities that make them a strong candidate for [Position/Opportunity]. Specifically:

- Teamwork: Andrew was always willing to listen and help with any problems or questions others had. Andrew does a good job focusing on the explanation and helping others understand as he provides the answer, bettering all around him in the process. Over the four and a half years working with him it was evident many at the company turned to him for his expertise, and in the last year and a half I was able to work more closely with him and viewed him as a mentor in the field.
- Expert in SAS/SQL: Andrew was always able to answer technical SAS/SQL questions. He was also able to provide guidance on how to approach a task in SAS/SQL and even jump in and handle code updates quickly if needed.
- Directing Organizational Growth: Andrew often worked across many teams, making sure work and handoffs between them flowed seamlessly and effortlessly.

In addition to the skills mentioned, Andrew Goad has shown an admirable work ethic and a commitment to excellence. He consistently demonstrates understanding of the regulatory environment and has capacity for compliance and responsibility.

In conclusion, I strongly endorse Andrew Goad for [Position/Opportunity]. They possess the skills, character, and dedication necessary to excel. I am confident that they will make a meaningful contribution wherever they go.

Should you require further details, please feel free to contact me at [phone removed] or [email removed].
